

LADIES IN CHARGE OF SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

WAR TIME SPIRIT ENTERS INTO
LAST NIGHT'S MEETING—ISSUE
APPEAL FOR RED CROSS AID AND FOOD CONSERVATION.

The service under the auspices of the women at the Baptist church last night demonstrated their ability to plan and carry thru an interesting program. Miss Vera Ham and Miss Rebecca Yentzer sang a duet, a ladies' choir and orchestra rendered special music. Lady ushers did their work well. The pastor spoke on "Ladies' Aid."

"Ladies' Aid" is a word combination commonly used to designate a society in the church. Pollyanna speaks of the "Ladies' Aiders" as women who re-carpet the church. We might add they have been the life-savers of the church in financial matters. They have been the drudges upon whom men of the church saddle the money raising to pay church bills. The Ladies' Aid give suppers, bazaars, fairs and the like. They are the Martha's busy about many things, serving tables, perspiring in church kitchens, quilting and divers other things for the getting and saving of money for the church. This is the old idea of the Ladies' Aid; it is the antiquated conception. A new day has arrived in which we think differently of this heroic band of women.

"There is a way of pronouncing Ladies' Aid which designates a larger and more general application of the term. Put a comma after ladies and exclamation points after aid and you have the modern emphasis. It is found thus to be a present day slogan. Ladies' aid!!! Lend a hand."

"It is the cry issuing from Red Cross headquarters. It is the summons of Hoover in the interest of food conservation. It is the war cry of Russia's women's 'Legion of Death.' It is the clarion call of Great Britain that brings one million, five hundred thousand women into industry who were never there before. It is the reason both in Great Britain and France for thousands of women in munition plants. Ladies, aid!!! Give a lift!"

"We hear the cry from political headquarters. The anti-Saloon League use it to achieve prohibition. Reform candidates in municipal elections use it to oust the machine. Ladies' aid!!! Help us. And the ladies have responded grandly. They have demonstrated that they have the brain and the brawn, the mentality, executive ability and the stamina to stay by a thing and see it thru to the end. Jane Addams, Ella Flagg Young and Helen Barrett Montgomery are women whose exploits give them right to stand beside the big men who bring things to pass. There are many others of the same high caliber and achievement."

"This new way of pronouncing ladies' aid in contemporary life has invaded the church. It has given a new ring to an old term. It has meant enlargement. Women of the average church have the genius for the propagation of great causes; they make excellent campaigners and they secure results. In the churches today they are relating that ability to a larger task."

"Every community has its crying needs. Innumerable means of service may be discovered. The church is in business to minister to the community. It does not exist as an end in itself but as a means to the service of people. There is scope then for the highest feminine ability, for the most striking initiative. The ladies' aid in churches today are enlarging their vision and scope of endeavor. In the name of the church they are making clothes for the children of suffering widows; they are helping young girls who work long hours and on small pay; they are generating by unselfish ministries new interest in church attendance and Christianity. The day is passed when they will be mere convenient slaves for the men of the church to get under the financial needs. They are in for the spiritual task for the bringing of Christ to the community and city in deeds of sacrificial service."

"There is the new call to women of the churches. Ladies' aid!!! Lend a hand! Pull up your stakes, lengthen your cords, enlarge the place of your tent!"

Presbyterian Church.

Yesterday morning a large congregation greeted Rev. Voneck and listened most attentively to his message on "The Kingdom," at the Presbyterian church. It was the second sermon in the series on the Lord's Prayer. He said:

"What did the Lord have in mind when He put the second petition into His prayer? The Kingdom may be looked upon as three fold: past, present and future. The kingdom of the past had to do with the Jews; but when the Lord declared His identity they refused to believe it and they tried to kill Him for making such a claim. The Kingdom of the present is the new 'nation' which, according to the words of the Master, will bring forth the fruits thereof. This new nation is in process of formation out of all the nations of the earth, and consists of all those who accept the Lord Jesus Christ. But the present condition of this kingdom of the present is likened unto the 'net' that was cast into the sea and brought out both good and bad fish; it is likened unto the field that was sowed with tares, but the Master said to let the wheat and the tares grow up together and then he would have the tares gathered and burned with fire."

"The kingdom that is future is the purified kingdom, for, said the Lord, the good fish will be separated from the bad even as the tares will be separated from the wheat. This is suggestive of the teaching of the Bible that tells us the time is coming when the real Christians will be separated from the mere professors of Christianity (1 Thess. 4:15-16), and that after that the work of purification will be carried on by the purifying fires of tribulation, and after that the Lord will return to conduct a kingdom of righteousness and of love."

"This purified kingdom is undoubtedly that the Lord had in mind when He instructed His disciples to pray, 'Thy kingdom come.'"

First Methodist Church.
The text used in the first of the series sermons by Rev. Chas. Briggs, was taken from Revelations 6:12: "And I saw, and behold a white horse; and he that sat on him had a bow, and a crown was given unto him; and he went forth conquering and to conquer." He said in part:

"The church has passed thru a long period when her teachers and preachers have dwelt almost exclusively upon the thought that Christ must be preached as suffering and sorrowing Saviour, and He has not been looked upon by the world as the King of earth and heaven, riding on in all possible majesty and glory. He has been pictured too often as the lamb of God, when the impression needed for the crisis in the affairs of man was that thought of Him as 'the Lion of the tribe of Judah.'"

"We are inclined to think of the kingdom of Christ as a thing of the future, while the text represents Him as not coming to His Kingdom, but as coming in His kingdom. He is already a king, and those who once scorned Him are placing the crown upon his kingly brow."

"Christ is here represented as taking the aggressive and going into battle. His army is not one of occupation, but of aggression. Our King is satisfied that we have occupied the field as a church and upheld the dignity of our denomination for fifty years. He calls upon us to look out upon 'fields always white unto the harvest, and tells us to 'put in the sickle and garner for him.' The church that does not reach out to make the city better for their fellow men to live in, cannot have its proper influence with those who it seeks to meet at its altars in spiritual ministrations. The church that does not take the proper interest in the Army Y. M. C. A. which ministers to the social and spiritual interests of the soldiers in the camps, need not expect to look into the faces of many soldiers at services of the church after the boys get home."

"The church that does not hear the cry, 'Come over into Macedonia and help us,' and seek by co-operation with approved missionary agencies to carry the Gospel to the ends of the earth, must not look for a very deep spirituality among its own members."

"The church that is kept busy fixing up petty quarrels among its members, will not only lose prestige in the community, but it will also use up all its energies on self-preservation and sacrifice that benefit of self-development that comes only thru service for others."

"The power by which Christ conquers today is the same power as that by which he conquered when on earth in the flesh. He conquers by the powers of love and truth. His weapons of conquest are the cross and the sword of the Spirit which is the Word of God, in the vision which Constantine saw of a flaming cross a heaven with the inscription beneath it, 'By this sign we conquer; we may discover the secret of the church's power.'"

Fling out the banner, let it float skyward, seaward, high and wide, our own glory is the Cross. Our only hope the Crucified."

WONDERFULLY PERFECT CLOCK

Said to Vary But One Second in 15,000 Days.

The most perfect clocks are used in astronomical observation. One of these in Berlin has run for months, with an average error of one-fiftieth-thousandths of a second of a day. In order to run so perfectly, a clock must not only be constructed and adjusted with the greatest care, but must be installed in a special room, such as an underground vault, where the temperature is practically uniform.

HOW TO TIE SLIP KNOT

Bend Cord in Form of Figure Eight, Then Tighten.

When tying a large bundle first loop the cord about it and fasten the tie; then carry the cord around as needed. The right knot for this first loop—one that draws tight and does not slip—is tied in a figure 8. The knot is then drawn together and the loop tightened around the bundle. Then proceed with the cording.

About being carried away with enthusiasm the worst feature is that we always have to walk back.

ONE-POUND LOAF OF BREAD AT 7C, FOOD EXECUTIVE'S PLAN

RULES WILL BE EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 10, ACCORDING TO ORDERS ISSUED TODAY IN THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Wilson issued a proclamation today decreeing the standardized loaf of bread. The weight of the loaf will be fixed at one pound, although one and one-half, two and four-pound sizes are permitted. The cash price of the one-pound loaf, according to Food Administrator Hoover, will not exceed 7 cents.

Altho Mr. Hoover said he was without power to actually fix the price, he expressed himself as confident that the regulations to be issued today will insure the 7 cent retail price.

Pound loaves have been selling thruout the country at an average of about eleven cents.

The bread regulations take effect December 10.

Approximately 1,000,000 barrels of flour, 100,000,000 pounds of sugar and 100,000,000 pounds of lard will be saved by the adoption of the standardized loaf, it is claimed.

The new regulations will fix a maximum of three pounds of sugar to each barrel of flour in the manufacture of bread, and cut the quantity of shortening from six pounds to two pounds.

All sweet rolls and most of the special varieties of bread will be abolished.

The public is urged to cooperate with the food administration by establishing the custom of one wheatless meal daily in households and one wheatless day weekly in the public eating places.

In announcing the standardized one-pound loaf at 7 cents, Food Administrator Hoover said it was the first of the food administration's efforts to standardize the staple foods of the country.

"Thirty-three more changes of the same kind are to be made," he said. "The standardized loaf of bread has come to stay for the rest of the war and I anticipate no difficulty about the price."

Mr. Hoover said that he did not expect to be able to meet the demand for a 5-cent loaf. The only way in which a 5-cent loaf can be produced is thru small sizes, and this is not economical. The pound loaf at about 7 cents is believed to be logical economy.

SPAIN FINDS FUELS

THAT REPLACE COAL.

Rice Husks, Mixed With Tar Makes Usable Briquette.

Shortage of coal in Spain has led to the experiments with various substitutes, including the husks of rice and inferior qualities of lignite. In the provinces that raise rice, the husks have lately been mixed with tar and formed into briquettes under hydraulic pressure.

In their natural form rice husks make an expensive fuel, burning with little heat, but the briquettes are said to ignite readily, give off little smoke and can be used to some extent as a substitute for coal.

Another kind of fuel briquette, giving similar service, is made from cheap qualities of lignite, including lignite dust and waste formerly regarded as worthless, from which the volatile matter is first expelled and binding material then added to form the briquette under pressure.
